My family and I have prayerfully considered these ministry opportunities and would like for me to be considered to be involved.

I/we have read this letter and understand that my/our student is interested in the above ministries and give permission and support to pursue these challenging opportunities. Each team has its own selection process and there are no guarantees that your student will make a team. I/we also understand parents are responsible to make up the deficit between what their child raises through support letters and the actual cost of the trip. If other students raise more than what they need, the excess goes into the team fund and is divided among those who have not raised their full support. Your child will not be allowed to go if he or she does not raise the full amount.
